¹ Refer to pace table on back side of document for description of paces

² Rest should be active, walking with hands behind head

³ Continue to perform 30 minutes of cardiovascular activity (omitted for space)

Pace Descriptor	Jog	Run	Hard	Fast
Training Zone	1-2	3	3-4	5
Percent of Max Heart Rate	50-70 %	70-80 %	80-90 %	90-100 %
Maximum Duration	>1 hour	10-60 mins	2-10 mins	<2 mins
Qualitative Description	Comfortable Can easily hold conversation	Less comfortable Can speak between breaths	Burning sensation Cannot hold conversation	Maximum effort

- Always warm up before a run, especially a speed run or any high-intensity workout
- Warmups should include a short easy jog followed by dynamic (not stationary) stretches

Example Warmup:

- 5 minute jog
- 12 hamstring scoops (both sides)
- 12 front to back leg swings (both sides)
- 12 side to side leg swings (both sides)
- 6 side lunges (both sides)
- 12 butt kicks (both sides)

Run Notes:

- Each part of a run workout should be done consecutively with no time in between
 - For example, 10 x 1 min hard/1 min jog means run hard for one minute, go straight into a jog for one minute, and then straight into the next set
- Get a watch to help time the intervals, you will need one for AFROTC PT
- If you have a smart watch, do not focus on heart rate or pace. It is much more important, and healthier, to learn to recognize how your body feels while you are running, and pace off of that
